

April 1, 2010
11 a.m. to 7 p.m.
The Event Center
Turning Stone Resort & Casino
Verona, NY

Free AIA-Certified Course Selections

Enlightened Spaces 11 a.m. to noon

Presented by Velux

A comprehensive, educational program to communicate how daylight from above applied properly can help overcome modern design challenges and has major green benefits.

1.0 LU (HSW) Meadow Room

Building Green Exteriors Using Fiber Cement 11 a.m. to noon

Presented by Nichiha and Parksite

Provides an overview of how to build green exteriors using fiber cement, including characteristics and advantages of various types of fiber cement products and key specification issues related to building with fiber cement. 1.0 LU (HSW/SD) Briar Room

Garden Roofs: Basic Design Principles 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Presented by Carlisle Syntec

The program will cover basic design considerations for garden roofs, including the proper roof system and components to install under a vegetative roof. Attendees will also learn about growing media types, drainage assemblies, plant types and installation methods. 1.0 LU (HSW/SD) Briar Room

Principles of Sustainable Design 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Presented by CertainTeed

This course takes an extensive look at some of the principles behind the design or renovation of the sustainable home. Green building tends to emphasize efficiency, but, in addition, sustainability requires the creation of durable, self-sustaining systems over the long term. 1.0 LU (HSW/SD) Meadow Room

An Overview of Vinyl Window Construction & Thermal Performance 3 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Presented by Paradigm Windows

The course covers frame and sash construction, glazing, hardware, ratings and window certification systems. 1.0 LU Briar Room

Practices of Sustainable Design 3 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Presented by CertainTeed

The main objective of the Practices part of Sustainable Design for Homes is to provide an extensive look at how the principles of sustainable design are applied in the design of a new home or renovation project. 1.0 LU (HSW/SD) Meadow Room

Space is limited. Sign up today at www.eriamaterials.com or contact Susan Harris at 1-800-252-3743 or expo@eriamaterials.com